Master's in Philosophy

AND ITS USES TODAY

PROFESSOR SIR ROGER SCRUTON FBA

October 2017 – September 2018

A one-year, London-based programme of ten evening seminars and individual research by Professor Sir Roger Scruton, offering examples of contemporary thinking about the perennial questions, and including lectures by internationally acclaimed philosophers.

Previous speakers have included:

Professor Jane Heal FBA,

St John's College, University of Cambridge

Professor Robert Grant,

University of Glasgow

Professor Sebastian Gardner,

University College London

Professor Simon Blackburn FBA,

Trinity College, University of Cambridge

Each seminar takes place in the congenial surroundings of a London club (in Pall Mall, SW1), and is followed by a dinner during which participants can engage in discussion with the speaker. The topics to be considered include consciousness, emotion, justice, art, God, culture and 'faking it', nature and the environment.

Students pursue their research, under the guidance of their supervisors, on a philosophical topic of their choice. Examination is by a dissertation of around 20,000 words.

Scholarships and bursaries are available.
